

Press Release

Glencree is recruiting a new Chief Executive

Glencree's CEO Will Devas, has decided to leave after four years at the helm of the Republic of Ireland's only peace centre.

Chair of Glencree's board, Barbara Walshe, expressed regret and sadness at his leaving, but gratitude for the 'leadership, hard work, integrity and trust' he inspired in all those he dealt with. On behalf of the Board she wished him every success as he returns to consultancy work from 31st October 2017.

Glencree is currently recruiting a new CEO which will lead Glencree over the next number of years. It is hoped to have his successor in place as soon as possible after the 31st October.

This position will be widely advertised from 1st September 2017
